Deliberate Murder in Georgetown.

Deliberate Murder in Georgetown.

About half-past two o'clock yeaterday morning a deliberate murder was perpetrated near Forrest Hall, Georgetown. Company A, Second United States Infantry, Capt. Lovell, are doing duty as the provest guard of Georgetown, and have their quarters in the hall, around which they keep a guard, and, according to custom, the victim, Joseph Brannan, who was the sergeant of the guard, had relieved the guard about two o'clock, stationing a man named Michael Lanahan on post at the corner of the alley in the rear of the hall and First street. About half an hour later, the sergeant went to Lanahan and gave him so me instructions, after which he started back to the quarters, but had hardly proceeded ten paces, when Lanahan called him. Sergeant Brannan immediately turned around, to see what was wanting, when Lunahan leveled his piece and fired, the ball entering the centre of the right breast and passing obliquely through the chest, lodging between the lower ribs on the left of the back-hone. Brannan dropped his mu-ket, and fell dead instantly. The guard immediately arrested Lanahan, but not before he had commenced reloading his piece, to shoot one of the sentinels. The cause of the murder is thought to be an old grudge which existed between them.

Lanshan is represented to be a very quarrelsome man, being Biways on angry terms with some of his comrades. He is an old soldier, having served in other regiments previous to his joining the Second Infantry. We learn that he will not be delivered to the civil authorities, but will be tried by a court-martial, which will be shortly convened.

The victim, Sergeant Brannan, is about thirty five years of age, and has been connected with the army for some years. He is represented to be an orderly and peaceable man, and was much respected by these with whom he was associated.

Another Murder-A Man Beaten to Death Another Murder—A Man Beaten to Death.

On Monday, the police of the first ward were informed that a man named Patrick McCrosen, who was recently a teamster, had died, that morning, on the corner of L and Twentieth streets, from the effects of a severe beating, which he had received the night before. They at once instituted inquiries in regard to the matter, and, acting on the information they had received, they arrested a man named Mark Harrington on the charge of being the perpetrator.

It appears that McCrosen, who lived with an old man named Gleason, had borrowed his hat and cane, on Sanday evening, and went out for a walk, but did not return that night. On the following morning, however, he made his appearance, beaten in a most horrible manner, and having his skull fractured. He was taken in the house by Gleason, but lived only a few hours.

in the house by Gleason, but lived only a few hours.

Coroner Woodward held an inquest on the body yesterday morning, before whom Miss Emma Kirby—who lives in the same house with Harrington, on the corner of Twenty-first and L streets—appeared, and testified that she looked from her window, on Sunday evening, and saw Harrington beating McCrosen with a stick, and draw him up the steps into the house. Harrington's wife admitted that he beat McC. with an axe-helve, which she afterwards burnt up. The floor and walls of the rooms in H.'s house bore the marks of blood, and the cane which McC. had borrowed from Mr. Gleason was found under a bed. The verdict of the jury was, that the deceased came to his death by blows from an axe-helve in the hands of Harrington.

by blows from an axe-helve in the hands of Harrington.

Harrington was taken before Justice Drury, who committed him to jail to answer the charge.

Sergeant Hurley and officers Calhoun, Calvert, Garrett, and others of the police, deserve much credit for the vigilance they have displayed in gathering the facts of this case, it lengs the impression of many that the deceased had died a natural doath.

This College opened yesterday in the Constitution Building. A very large class of students were present.

Dr. T. Miller, Professor of Anatomy, delivered a very eloquent and able address to the students present.

He stated that about two years ago he had, after being engaged a quarter of a century in that capacity, resigned the chair of anatomy and medicine, but at the solicitation of the present professors, he had consented again to stand bravely in harness in the cause he had consisted in—that of fairly and fully demonstrating to the students the use of anatomy.

He said that in January last, the school was in a flourishing condition, but owing to the unhappy state of affairs in which the country was pinnged, they were compelled to give up their institution for the use of the solders; but that the present building had been nicely arranged, and would no doubt answer the purpose de signed by the professors.

The Body of Col. Baker.

The body of Col. Baker, having been embaimed by Dr. Holmes, yesterday, by invitation of the committee of Californians who have the body in charge, a number of friends of the doceased visited the rooms of Dr. Holmes, on Pennsylvania avenue, during yesterday, to see the face of their late friend for the last time. The temporary coffin in which the body of Col. 3, was brought from Poolesville, has been repaced by a handsome metallic case; instation aced by a handsome metallic case, imitation of resewood, mounted with sliver; a large plate of glass covering the place, through which the features of the deceased may be seen by his riends, below which, over the breast, is a sliver plate with the inscription: "Col. E. D. Baker, killed in battle near Ball's Bluff, Virginia, Oct. 21, 181."

Notwithstanding the shattered condition of Notwithstanding the shattered condition of the body, the process of embalming was very successfully performed by Dr. Holmes, and the body presents a very natural appearance. The case will be sealed up, and sent to New York to day, and thence to California.

About eleven o'clock night before last, as Mr. D. R. P. Bigley, who resides in the Northern Liberties, was proceeding to his home, he was accosted, near the corner of Seventi and O streets, by six regulars, all of whom were apparently intoxicated, who demanded the countersign. Mr. B., paying no attention to them, endeavored to pass on, when several of them seized hold of him, declaring him to be their prisoner, one of whom endeavored to strike him with a heavy whip, but without succeeding. Mr. B. then ran down Severath street, and when near the Northern Market, met several members of the Meiropolitan pelice, with whom he went back to the place where he had been assaulted. After a considerable sculle, they succeeded in arresting two of the soldiers, one of whom, we o appeared to be the ringleader, gave his name as Sergeant Bryan. They were both taken to the Central Guard-house and haided-over to the military authorities, by when the seally a second of the sold of t Assaulted by Soldiers. handed-over to the military authorities, by whom they will be severely punished.

Frightful Accident—A Hack Thrown Down an Embankment, Killing the Driver.

Driver.

About seven o'clock last evening, as Patrick Weich, a well-known back driver of this city, was driving his hack, containing two passengers, Thomas A. Brown and Thamas W. Burch, along the narrow road near the junction of Second street and Pennsylvania avenue, he drove his hack too near the edge of Tiber Creek, when it was suddenly precipitated down the embankment at that point, a digtance of twelve or fourteen feet, catching him under the hack, and causing his death, by drowning, in a few minutes, the others, however, escaping without injury. When the body of Welch was taken from the water, a large cut was found upon the forehead, which is supposed to have been caused by the wheel of the carriage coming in contact therewith, in the fall over the embankment.

As soon as the carriage had reached the foot of the embankment, the passengers jumped quickly therefrom, and, without waiting to see the result of the accident, hastily left the loss.

The back was considerably damaged, an i both of the horses badly bruised.

A large crowd soon gathered at the spot, but life was extinct before the unfortunate man could be extricated. His remains were taken up and removed to his late residence, on Massachusetts avenue, near Fifth street, by soveral of the Metropolitan police, where the inquest, will be held this morning.

The deceased was about fifty-six years of age, and has been engaged in the back-driving business for twenty-dve or thirty years past. He leaves a wife and two children to mourn his loss.

It is a great wonder that this dangerous place has been so long neglected, and still more won derful that accidents of this kind have not been more frequent there.

more frequent there.

Highway Robbery in the Northern Liberties.

A few nights since, as Mr. Hobbs, pump-maker, was passing alon 2 New York avenue, opposite the Northern Liberties Eugine House, he was accosted by two men, one of whom asked him what time it was. Mr. H. pulled out his watch to give the desired information, when the man who had asked for it, opened a bowie knife, and, cutting the guard, seized the watch and ran off with it—the other helding Mr. H. until he had obtained possession of it. Both of the villains then started off up the sireet at a run, Mr. H. hallosing all the while for the police, none of whom, however, made their appearance. The watch, which is of silver, is an old family relic, and highly valued by Mr. H. What makes the affair still more remarkable, is the fact that it was only a few minutes after nine o'clock when the act was committed.

King's dational Circus. Mr. Thomas King, the renowned gymnast and equestrian, is about to open a first-class circus in this city, to be erected on the site of the old National Theatre. He has a fine stud of imported thoroughbred horses and penies, and has engaged quite a number of prominent artistes to assist in the opening. Mr. James Meiville, the Australian rider; Madames Camille and Marie; Messrs. Penney and Jones, of "Dan Rice's Great Show;" Gardiner, the well known clown; F. Whittaker, the standard master of the circle: Mad'ile Virginia, and Elia Zoyara, are included in the list of celebrities. It is Mr. King's intention to present, from time to time, novelies of the most attractive character, and thus make the arena a permanency in ter, and thus make the arena a permanency

Orphan's Court.

Yesterday, in the Barney case, Judge Purcell himself examined Chase Barney, jun., the oldest child, who testified that no undue influence had been brought to bear upon him by Mr. De Krafft against his father, but that, on the contrary, Mr. De Krafft had always advised him to obey implicitly the commands of his father. He further testified that he had been twice beaten by his father because of his refusal to copy a paper which had a bearing on the present case, and which he believed would be used against him.

Operatic Concert.

During the present week a grand operatic concert, in which those first-class musical performers, Miss Isabella Hinkley, the American prima donna, Brignell, the favorite tenor, the basso Susini, the new barinone Mancus; and the celebrated violinist Herr Melienhauser, will all appear. This is a treat the music-loving people of Washington and vicinity will not be slow in availing themselves of, particularly in view of the fact of the great dearth of this class of music for many months past.

The sale of reserved soats, it will be seen by the advertisement in another column, will commence at Melzerott's music stere and at Willards' Hotel on Thursday morning, October 31st, at 10 o'clock A. M. Those wishing eligible seats, would do well to secure them early.

New Painting for the Capitol.

Lentz, the artist, has arrived in this city, and commenced work on a great painting to fill the vacancy pannel in the rotunds of the Capital, for which he is to receive twenty thousand dollars. The design represents a party of emigrant coming out of a wild, mountainous pass, to a point where the prospect of valley and plain expands into great distance. It will be the only painting in the Capital not strictly historical in its character.

FINAL ORDERS FOR THE DEPARTURE OF THE EXPEDITION.

Fortress Monroe, Oct. 28.—The expedition still lingers here, but it is now understood that Gen. Sherman has ordered the fleet to sail at daylight to morrow. One hundred thousand rations have been distributed among the regiments this afternoon preparatory to their departure. The captains of the various transports received scaled orders to-day. It is reported, but doubtless it is only a baseless rumor, that one of the captains has opened his orders and divulged the destination of the fiset.

The men and horses on board the various transports have suffered greatly during the gale of the last two days.

A detachment of the sixteenth Massachusetts regiment to-day followed the line of telegraph to Newport News, without encountering any opposition.

CAPTURE OF A REBEL SUPPLY TRAIN IN MIS SOURI.

SI Louis, Oct. 29.—Gen. Lane has captured a rebel transportation train with Captain Whiting, Lieutenant Baugh and escort. Also a large quantity of lead. He relieved the wants of a large number of sick and wounded rebels at Rose Hill, found in a starving condition.

Padseah, October 28.—Three companies of the Ninth Illinois regiment went to Saratoga, forty-eight miles up the Cumberland river, on Saturday, and attacked a company of rebel cavalry one hundred strong, completely routing them. The rebels lost thirteen killed and twenty-four prisoners. Fifty-two horses, and all their camp equipage, were captured. The Union less was only two wounded.

FROM CAIRO. FROM CAIRO.

Cairo, Ill., Oct. 28.—A party of thirty men, of the Twenty-eighth Illinois regiment, while scouting on Saturday, encountered a party of robel cavalry and infantry thirteen miles below this place. A brisk engagement ensued, in which the robels were routed with the loss of a captain and a lieutenant, and several wounded. No loss on our side.

THE RECAPTURE OF SPRINGFIELD. St. Louis, Oct. 27.—The following is a special dispatch to the St. Louis R-publican:
The following dispatch has been received, amouncing a most brilliant victory at Springfield by Gen. Fremont's body guard, numbering one hundred and fifty man:

FIVE MILES OUT OF BOLIVAR, Oct. 25, 10 A. M. General: I report respectfully that yesterday, at 4 P. M., I met in Springfield about 2,000 rebels formed in line of battle. They gave a very warm reception, but your guard, with one feeling, made a charge, and in less than three minutes the enemy was completely routed by one hundred and fifty men. We cleared the city of every rebel and retired, it being near night, and not feeling able to keep the place with so small a lore. Major White's command did not participate in the charge. I have seen charges, but such brilliant bravery I have never seen and did not expect. Their war cry—Frement and the Union—broke out like thunder.

Col. John M. Richardson, who rode over to the vicinity of Springfield last evening, says Major Seagoyne was guided to the town from the Jefferson to the Mount Vernon road by Judge Owens. The rebel camp was just outside of the city. Major Seagoyne was compelled to pass through a lace and let down a number of fence rulls before he could charge on the foe, thus drawing their fire. There was a good deal of street fighting in Springfield, and from the houses, two secessionsis, who ran out of their dwellings, fired at the Body Guard, were killed.
